

Almost half of refugees in all three countries have children with them. Refugees in Greece are more likely than the others to have fled without them

Do you have children? (%)

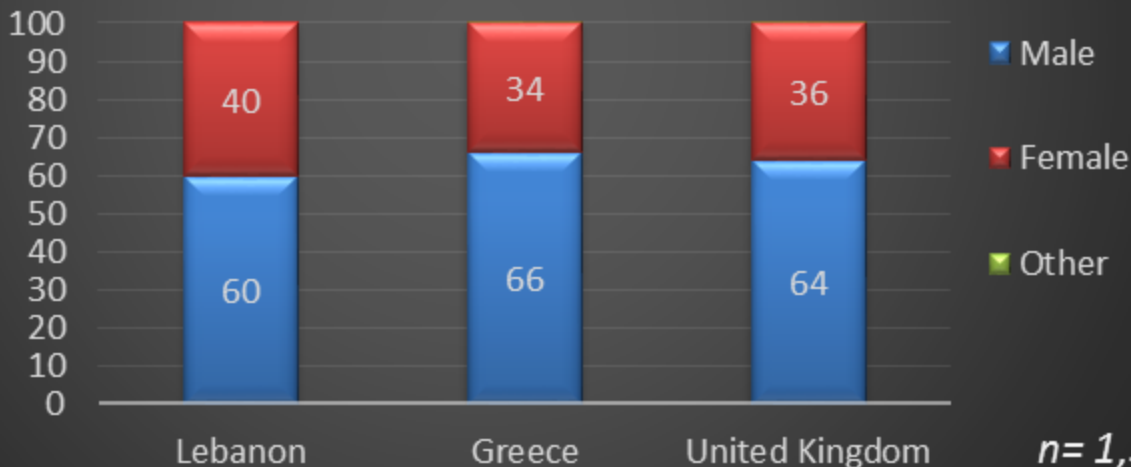

Syrian refugees in Greece are more likely to be Kurdish than those in Britain or Lebanon

What ethnic group do you belong to? (%)

Well over half of our participants in all three countries are male, though this is more likely to be because men are more likely to take part in research projects

What is your gender? (%)

About half of the refugees in all three countries are married.

What is your marital status? (%)

